

Shoreline Birthdays for March

March 10, Evangeline Digan

March 10, Jason Harris

March 20, Marvita Makunike

March 25, Merle Patterson

March 29, Parmod Peter

First United Methodist Church in Seattle is on the move.

After 100 years at Fifth and Marion, First United Methodist Seattle is moving to Seattle Children's Theater for Sundays worship at 10 am. The theater is located at the Seattle Center, just one block from the site of our future church home at Second and Denny Way. Easter Sunday, March 23, at 10:30, will be their last worship service at fifth and Marion.

Two events will be of particular interest for our friends and neighbors in the Pacific Northwest conference; Open House on March 8 and the "On the Move" sale on March 15. Many of you have connections to the building and the congregation at First Church. At our open house you will have a chance to tour the entire building, talk with long-time members who know the history and people of this amazing place,

We have a large building filled with treasures, and we can't take all of them with us. On March 15 you'll find bargains galore at our "On the Move" sale. Pews, pianos, office furniture and shelving. Hymnals and choir robes. Candle-holders, vases and altar cloths, books and baskets, decorations and toys. If you are interested in any items we have for sale, please contact John Breen in the church office at any time. You don't need to wait until the public sale on March 15.

A Seattle and United Methodist landmark is changing forever. We want to share our tears and excitement with you, our brothers and sisters in faith.

BOOKS, BOOKS, BOOKS

You may have noticed the large bookcase in the meeting room up stairs. It will very shortly be filled with books for all to enjoy. There will be fiction, History, Biographies, Inspirational, plus books that help with raising children to coping with aging. Do you have any books appropriate for a church library you would like to share? When you see a book you would like to borrow just write your name on the card provided. We just ask that you remember to return the book so others may also enjoy it.

